"Pape's Diapepsin" fixes sick, sour, gassy stomachs in five minutes.

Time it! In five minutes all stomach distress will go. No indigestion, heartburn, sourness or belching of gas, acid, or eruptions of undigested food, no dizziness, bloating, or foul breath.

Pape's Diapepsin is noted for its speed in regulating upset stomachs. It is the surest, quickest and most certain indigestion remedy in the whole world, and besides it is harmless.

Please for your sake, get a large fifty-cent case of Pape's Diapepsin from any store and put your stomach right. Don't keep on being miserable—life is too short—you are not here long, so make your stay agreeable. Eat what you like and digest it; enjoy it, without dread of rebellion in the stomach.

Pape's Diapepsin belongs in your home anyway. Should one of the family eat something which don't agree with them, or in case of an attack of indigestion, dyspepsia, gastritis or stomach derangement at daytime or during the night, it is handy to give the quickest relief known. Adv.

Identifying Him.

Attorney General McReynolds came to town the other day and paid a call upon a physician who hails from Tennessee, says the New York Tribune. The physician was out, and as Mr. McReynolds had no card with him he left his name and title with the English footman.

When the physician returned he was informed that there had been a caller. "I can't remember his name, sir," said the footman, "but he was a member of parliament."

LET COUNTRY REST

Business Men Want a Period of Certainty.

A Year at Least is Needed to Restore Proper Tone to the Various Branches of Industry—Distrust Must End.

Returning members of congress doubtless can testify to the fact that there is a growing feeling throughout the country that the administration, having put through its tariff and currency bills, should now give the business men a chance to readjust their affairs and conform to the new conditions, before thrusting new anti-trust legislation upon them. Even so staunch a supporter of President Wilson and so aggressive a champion of Democratic pledges as the New York World now says:

"The country needs time to adjust itself to the legislation already enacted by the present congress, and many of the amendments proposed to the Sherman law spell another long period of litigation, with no definite promise of beneficial results. Let it be remembered that if business depression follows careless trust legislation the discredit will fall upon the tariff and currency laws, to the undoing of most of the good already accomplished."

It will be idle to assure the business men of the country that what is being done is in their interest if the effect is to stir up a feeling of uncertainty and distrust. Many years passed before even the best lawyers in the country pretended to understand what was meant by the seemingly plain terms of the Sherman law. The ablest men of the senate framed that law, and yet when the enforcement of it began, there were few business men who knew where they stood.

The business interests now have a fair understanding of the trust law. The courts have interpreted it plainly, so that all who run may read. Peaceful dissolutions are possible under it, as is demonstrated not only in the breaking up of the telephone-telegraph merger, but in the New Haven railroad unscrambling.

It is well to leave a good thing alone. A year at least should be given the country to get its breath after the almost continuous harassment of the past ten years. The most constructive thing the administration could do would be to announce that the public is to have the rest cure for the next twelve months.

Democratic Policy Destructive.

The general purpose of Democracy has ever been to undo whatever the Republican party has done, to do whatever the Republican party has opposed, to overthrow federal supervision and federal power in whatever direction exercised, and to elevate the power and supremacy of the state at the expense of the nation.

To change the tariff law and substitute free trade for protection has been its purpose for more than half a century. Cleveland tried it in 1893, but did not entirely succeed. The senate battled him, for the Wilson bill was at last rather a change of schedules than a complete destruction of protection. Cleveland, notwithstanding his strong individualism, was a lawyer who entertained a respect for the constitution of his country and had some modest misgivings as to his own infallibility. Wilson is troubled by no underestimate of himself. He had not the slightest hesitation in invoking the power of federal patronage and the tyranny of the secret caucus to carry out his purposes, and the result was the revised tariff, the practical workings of which are yet to be demonstrated.

Bill Not Yet Settled.

The Democratic party has given the people of the country two doses of medicine. If these two doses cure the patient, well and good; if not, then will be time to look to the future, perhaps to prepare.—Vice-President Marshall.

What about paying the doctor's bill? Is it to be completely overlooked? The citizens of Leesburg thought so to their sorrow. Is the nation to profit by their example? If old Doctor Swampfoot gets paid, "well and good"; if not, look out for more doses. Some say that subscription blanks, properly filled in, make the best prescriptions. Try a dollar's worth of Commoner! It leaves you younger.

Settled in That Quarter.

The South Carolina Democrat who said that Woodrow Wilson is the greatest living American probably has no intention of asking Secretary Bryan for a diplomatic job.

Not Looking for So Much.

Some of the Democrats who started out for a porterhouse steak are about ready now to accept a soup bone.

No Rest—No Peace

There's no rest and but little peace for a person whose kidneys are out of order.

Lame in the morning, suffering cricks in the back and sharp stabs of pain with every sudden strain, the day is just one round of pain and trouble.

It would be strange if all-day backache did not wear on the temper, but it is not only on that account that people who suffer with weak kidneys are nervous, cross and irritable.

Uric acid is poison to the nerves, and when the kidneys are not working well, this acid collects in the blood and works upon the nerves, causing headache, dizziness, languor, an inclination to worry over trifles, and a suspicious, short temper.

Rheumatic pain, neuralgia, sciatica, lumbago, neuritis and gravel are further steps in uric acid poisoning.

Don't neglect kidney weakness. An aching back, with unnatural passages of the kidney secretions, is cause enough to suspect the kidneys. Use Doan's Kidney Pills, a remedy which has been used for years, the world over, for weak kidneys, backache, irregular kidney action and uric acid trouble. Thousands of grateful recommendations throughout the country prove their worth.

WOULD ALMOST FAINT Cured After Doctors Failed

Mrs. Henry Zumach, Hutchinson, Minn., says: "Last winter a terrible, sharp pain caught me in my back and from that time on I had a constant backache. If I used a broom, it just seemed as if my back was breaking. I was in misery day and night and at times I got so dizzy I thought I was going to faint. At night I had to put a pillow under my back for the slight relief that this gave me. I got so weak I couldn't do anything. The doctor said I had a floating kidney and two specialists in Minneapolis said the same. The physicians' medicine didn't help me a bit and reading about Doan's Kidney Pills, I had someone get me a box. As soon as I began using them, I got better and by the time I had finished the third box, I didn't have a bit of pain. I can now do any kind of work without suffering and all the symptoms of kidney complaint have left me. Doan's Kidney Pills have certainly spared me a great deal of misery and suffering. I am only too glad to recommend them to other kidney sufferers."

Public Pests.

The Woman Who Never Has Her Change Ready.

Have you ever noticed how many women go to a ticket window in the subway or on the elevated, ask for their ticket and even expect to have it in their hands, before they begin to look for the nickel to pay for it?

Have you ever waited in line while a woman in front of the ticket seller opened her shopping bag, took out her handkerchief, groped for her pocket-book and, when she found it, lingeringly searched through its compartments for a five-cent piece?

A woman is unfortunate in having no convenient pocket that she can dip into for small change. Her money is usually inside something that is inside something else. But isn't this all the more reason why she should have the consideration and forethought to get out her change in advance in order not to delay others?

Needless to say, the woman who holds up the line at the subway ticket office does the same thing when she buys theater seats or railway tickets.

Here is a prominent place among public pests.

Good Position.

"What does your father do for a living?" asked one little girl. "Why," replied the other, "he takes up the collections in church."

Never trust a man whose dog crawls under the house when it sees him enter the front gate.

Not Altogether Lost.

In the Shakespearean days actors were classed as rogues and outlaws. Will West, the portly comedian of "The Doll Girl," thinks that player folk are bad enough, but not as black as they are painted. He tells this story on Dick Burge, the English pugilist and actor, who was indicted in connection with the $500,000 Liverpool bank robbery.

Burge was on the witness stand. "I understand," said the judge, "that you are an actor."

Burge blushed, swallowed convulsively and hesitated. "No, your honor," he stammered; "only a thief."
